Family-Educator Collaboration in the IEP Process

A Joint Training Activity for Parents and Educators

Families Can Make A Difference!

In special education, collaboration between parents and educators is essential to ensuring that the student is the central focus. During this training, parents and educators will explore techniques and strategies that enhance parent/educator collaboration in the IEP process. Tools that advance ongoing parent/educator collaboration in the IEP process will be shared.

Date: Monday, May 5th Time 7pm-9pm

Location: South Orange Maplewood School District Administration Building,
525 Academy Street, Maplewood, New Jersey. 07040

PRESENTER: Myriam Alizo, Parent Group Specialist, START Project

(Statewide Parent Advocacy Network)

Parents and educators of children who are already receiving special education services and parents and educators of children who are having difficulty in school but may have not been determined to be eligible for special education services will benefit from this training.
